

Rating Guidelines

Rating A: (Excellent)

Answer Discuss everything that was brought up in the question, and demonstrate a thorough understanding of the query. It contains no typographical, spelling, or grammar errors; the response is precise, well-organized, and cohesive; it remains contextually relevant.

Rating B: (Good)

Most of it is accurate and comprehensive. Small errors in grammar, flow, or clarity that do not impact the main idea. Though functionally robust, it might not be as polished stylistically. The wording may be a little strange, but it makes sense in the context.

Rating C: (Average)

Slightly incomplete or partially accurate. Comprehendable; however, there may be grammatical errors or ambiguous phrasing. May exhibit some perplexity or irrelevant content.

Rating D: (Poor)

Mostly wrong or hard to understand. There are big problems with grammar or logic. Hard to grasp or not on the subject.

Rating E: (Unacceptable)

Illogical or inaccurate. There are significant grammatical or factual problems. Content is inappropriate or unrelated to the work. No use at all.
